

Massive Police Trap To Capture Kidnapers Fails, Two Men Held

Three Days' Preparation and Sealed Fences of 300 Officers Fail in Effort to Capture Gang of Kidnapers as Police Car Forged Orders.

Chicago, Aug. 16 (P).—A massive police trap carefully set for a gang of wily kidnapers snapped futilely but authorities today claimed new evidence of interlocking connections between organized abductors for ransom in far flung sections of the country.

Three days of preparation, the blue printed schemes of city, county and federal authorities, efforts of 300 selected possemen from city, suburban and state's attorney's forces, with wireless squad car directing and airplanes soaring over the scene, went for naught yesterday as two members of a gang which sought a further $50,000 ransom installment from John Factor, recently abducted market speculator, careened away in a burst of gun fire.

But out of the unhappy denouement which saw the suspects escape with a package representing final payment for Factor's release, authorities had for their quarry, two men in detention who claimed they were hikers, and six others seized in a saloon as a result of clues uncovered in the exciting bullet punctured pursuit.

Police reports indicated Richard (Yuma) Phillips, known here as an underworld go-between; Vernon Miller, one of the notorious Harvey Bailey gang of Texas; Tommy Touhy, brother of Roger Touhy, held for the kidnapping of William Hamm, Jr., St. Paul brewer; and George Kelly, said by authorities to be wanted in the Urschel kidnapping case of Oklahoma, were the parties for whom the trap was laid. This information was regarded as possibly linking closely the various gangs responsible for major kidnappings in the middle and far west of the past year. Only two men were believed to be in the fleeing car, however.

An over anxious motor squad car, which forgot orders to cruise lazily near the negotiation area, north of suburban La Grange, and spurred ahead with a roar of engines at the signal which was to start the huge net closing in, was blamed for the fiasco. It got for a moment between a police machine gunner and the kidnapper automobile forcing the policeman to withhold his fire. The suspects drove wildly off and finally lost themselves in the heavily forested region of the western Cook county forest preserve area.

Plans Arranged
Tapped wires on Factor's telephone line started off the great man hunt. Police learned demands for additional thousands of dollars recently were made on the market plunger, who is accused of fleeing several millions of dollars from British investors and who had released a few weeks ago after yielding $50,000 to his captors. The persuaded him to arrange to meet the new requests with authorities participating at the pay off.

For a square mile about the stipulated spot officers threw their heavily armed line of hunters hidden by trees and thickets of the region until the moment to spring the trap jaws came.

With a reported $500 marked money from Factor and additional bogus bills a police detail disguised as cab driver and passenger set off to the appointed place, near Mannheim Road and 31st street, a main highway to the city from the west. Under sealed orders the squads took position and an army airplane from Ft. Sheridan and another piloted by an army flier, both armed with sub machine guns, dived overhead. They were to give the signal when the money was passed and be ready if the kidnapers tried to escape by plane.

A code conversation revealed to the disguised policeman in the cab they were dealing with Factor kidnapers. The conversation had been pre-arranged by Factor and the mobsters.

When the taxi parked, one gangster walked out and demanded:

"Have you a package for Smith?"

"Yes," said the officer. "Here it is."

The plane dipped a signal but not before the suspects realized their predicament. They wheeled off, aided a moment by the squad cars' interference with police guns in the cab. The guns soon began roaring and the quarry vigorously returned police fire from their pistols. The chase was on, police leaped into action and the four highways surrounding the wooded area were blocked to all traffic.

Escaped on Foot

Seeing their path barred by squads to the north, the kidnapers with Factor's money in their possession were closing in on them when they left their machine to scurry off alone. The planes, meanwhile, attempted to trace another car believed to be carrying other members of the gang.

It was said to be Texas license plates issued to Mrs. Ora L. Shannon of Paradise where four members of the Shannon family and Bailey were arrested in the Urschel kidnapping case. Both eluded the officers. One of the men is believed to have been carried out of the woods to a city car line in the name of John A. Ladd, a farmer of the vicinity. Ladd said a stranger came to him, declared his wife had almost caught kidnapping.

Dollar Day Will Open With Sounding Of Fire Alarm

To the People of Ulster County:

Thursday morning at 9 o'clock the fire alarm will ring 10 times, announcing the beginning of the biggest Dollar Day Kingston has ever held.

Commodity prices are rapidly and substantially increasing, day by day. But the merchants tell me their stores are crowded with fresh, new merchandise at old-time prices. But they have warned me that after Dollar Day prices will move sharply upward.

I urge all those who need, or soon expect to need, merchandise to take advantage of Kingston's city-wide Dollar Day. Help spread employment and help bring back prosperity by spending now.

And remember: A dollar saved is a dollar earned.

Acting Mayor.

Government Plans to Arrest Gold Hoarders

Report Shows 280 Persons Still Holding $845,925 in Gold—Expect Warrants for Their Arrest Sometime This Week.

Washington, Aug. 16 (P).—Gold hoarders of the United States have about reached the end of the rainbow, for the government is going after their hidden pots of gold.

In the justice department, legal experts are quietly drawing up the case against gold hoarders. It would not surprise official Washington if warrants for the arrest of the hoarders were announced by Attorney General Cummings when he returns from his vacation Thursday or Friday.

Before he departed for his vacation, Cummings said that prosecution of gold hoarders who continued to defy the government would be started in two or three weeks. The three weeks expires Thursday.

The treasury and department of justice have completed their investigations into a long list of persons who withdrew gold from banks during the March crisis. As last reports, there still were 280 persons holding $845,925 in the metal which they refused to give up, while $77,451,498, not turned in when President Roosevelt ordered it done, had voluntarily been given to the banks after justice agents visited hoarders.

In all, justice department agents called on more than 5,000 persons whose names were on the list of those who withdrew gold. That list has been checked and rechecked and finally returned to the justice department.

The ground work has been prepared; every hoarder has been informed of the law and of the penalties of up to 10 years in prison or a fine of not more than $10,000 or both.

Italian Liner Rex Claims New Record

New York, Aug. 16 (P).—The Italian liner Rex arrived today from Gibraltar, claiming a new record for a transatlantic crossing by ships.

The Rex made the trip from Gibraltar to Ambrose Lightship, at the entrance to New York Harbor, in four days, thirteen hours and fifty-eight minutes, at an average speed of 23.92 knots. The distance given was 3,181 miles.

The fastest previous crossing was made by the North German Lloyd liner Bremen, sailing the westward course from Cherbourg breakwater to Ambrose Lightship, in September, 1932, in four days, fifteen hours and fifty-six minutes. Her highest average speed, however, was made on the eastward trip from Ambrose to Cherbourg, over the long summer course of 3,199 miles June 30 last. On that voyage her average speed was 25.51 knots.

Hutton Brick Co. Improving Plant

The Hutton Brick Co. plant, which has been running since May 15, has shut down for a couple of weeks in order to make improvements to the plant. When changes are completed their brick-making machine will be capable of turning out 10 bricks at one operation instead of nine as at present. The plant has been employing 70 hands since it started up.

him in the forest preserves with another woman and paid him $10 to save his reputation by getting him away. His companion hid himself in the thick underbrush. The abandoned car was carefully photographed for finger prints.

Its ownership was traced to Eugene Crotty, whose West Side beer tavern police raided but found him missing. The place, authorities said, was recently operated as a handbook headquarters for "Father Tom" McFadden, one of four Touhy gangsters in Federal custody for the Mannix kidnapping.

M. H. Shank, Attorney, Confesses Poisoning 4 Members of Family

Imminent Arrest of One of The Victims For Getting Papers For Attorney From Prosecuting Office, Advanced as a Motive.

Hot Springs, Ark., Aug. 16 (P).—A confession that he poisoned four members of a family was signed today by Mark H. Shank, an attorney of Akron, O., and police advanced as a motive the imminent arrest of one of the victims for getting papers for Shank from the prosecuting attorney's office in Akron in a forgery case against a client of Shank.

Police said they found a letter from Shank in the clothing of one of the victims, Mrs. Ethel Colley, advising her and her husband, Alvin, to "keep eyes open, mouth shut" and he would soon join them and "you will all be rich."

Colley and his wife and two sons, 7 and 11 years of age, were found dead and dying of poison on a highway near Malvern late yesterday after their car had crashed into a fence and Shank had fled into the woods.

Shank confessed authorities announced, in the following brief statement which he said he would amplify after he had some sleep.

"I am guilty of the murder of the four persons at Malvern by poison and I only ask that you officers recommend to the courts that they grant me all the leniency possible."

Colley was sought by Wayne county, Ohio, authorities on a warrant charging him with stealing receipts and other evidence from the office of prosecuting Attorney Lyman R. Critchfield, Jr., which was intended for prosecution of Clarence Braucher of Barbertown, O., on a forgery charge. Shank was attorney for Braucher.

The evidence, the Ohio prosecutor said, was stolen while Braucher was out on bond.

A three year old son of the Colleys, who escaped the poison, was quoted by prosecuting Attorney Miller Halbert of Malvern as saying he saw Shank put something in some grape juice which his parents and brothers drank while they were eating a picnic lunch near Malvern yesterday.

After Shank had been captured, following a chase with bloodhounds, he took the officers to the spot where he said they had all eaten lunch during a short motor trip.

There, the officers found a jug of juice, some lunch meats and nearby some crystals which are to be analyzed.

There was evidence the Colleys and Shank had left the place hurriedly. As authorities reconstructed the case, they believed the poison struck the victims there and they hurried away for medical aid.

Lawmakers May Adjourn Friday

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 16 (P).—Signs of early adjournment of the New York legislature's special session appeared today as Democratic leaders prepared to present a bill giving New York city virtual blanket authority to levy new taxes for unemployment relief for a limited period within its own borders.

After brief morning sessions both the Senate and the Assembly recessed until this afternoon to give Corporation Counsel Arthur J. W. Hilley and his staff, and the Democratic leaders, time to make changes in the bill which were insisted upon by the Republicans. One of these is that if the city decides to levy a stock transfer tax, it cannot be made to apply outside the city's borders. The Republicans were understood to be willing to furnish enough votes to pass the bill if the changes were made. Present plans call for adjournment of the session by Friday.

Lindberghs Plan to Continue on to Europe

Reykjavik, Iceland, Aug. 16 (P).—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh planned today to continue on to Europe in their northern mapping flight if weather conditions were favorable.

On their arrival at Vatna Gardar Sound near here from Angmagsalik, Greenland, yesterday, the colonel told an attendant who brought them coffee and milk that England might be their next destination.

A large crowd from Reykjavik, disappointed because the fliers did not land here, went to Vatna Gardar to greet them. The Lindberghs slept aboard their plane last night and said they would either drive here by motor or fly here this morning.

FUNERAL SERVICES IN TOKYO FOR DR. FREDERICK STARR

Tokyo, Aug. 16 (P).—Funeral services were conducted in Trinity Cathedral today for Dr. Frederick Starr, American anthropologist, who died of bronchial pneumonia Monday.

Among those present was Premier Makoto Saito, who returned to Tokyo especially for the services after seeing the emperor embark from Yokosuka for naval maneuvers. Dr. Starr, who was 74, was at one time connected with the University of Chicago and was known particularly for his studies of American Indians and the aborigines of Japan.

Official N R A Code Signed Today By The Freeman Publishing Company

The Freeman Publishing Company this afternoon delivered to Postmaster Merritt its certificate that it has signed the President's Re-employment Agreement, with reservations complying with the A. N. P. A. Code for Publishers of Daily Newspapers as approved by NRA, authority to take this action having been received today.

Asks Lawmakers to Confirm Beer Board

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 16 (P).—Governor Lehman asked the Senate today to confirm his recess appointment of the five members of the State Beer Control Board and sixteen other recess appointments.

The members of the beer board are Chairman Edward P. Mulrooney of New York; John Sullivan, New York; Edward Schoeneck, Syracuse; Mrs. J. R. Sheppard, New York; and James P. B. Duffy, of Rochester.

The governor asked confirmation of his six appointments to the State Insurance Board as follows: Francis R. Stoddard, James A. Beha, Jesse S. Phillips, William H. Hotchkiss, Aaron Rabinowitz and Matthew W. L., all of New York city.

He asked approval of the appointment of an advisory board of the division of bedding, Department of Labor as follows: E. J. Barcola, Buffalo; George S. Knott, Brooklyn; S. J. Faeder, New York; Ephraim Freedman, Brooklyn, and George V. Fay, New York.

The other appointments were to boards of visitors, as follows: George R. Van Alstyne, Rochester, State Agricultural and Industrial School; Katherine Akin, Ogdensburg; St. Lawrence State Hospital; Dr. James W. Smith, Ladentown, Rockland State Hospital; Herman S. Bachrach, Brooklyn, Brooklyn State Hospital, and Hubert C. Stratton, Oxford, Women's Relief Corps Home.

GANDHI THREATENS FAST UNTIL DEATH

Poona, India, Aug. 16 (P).—The Mahatma Gandhi began at noon today what he said would be a fast until death.

The little Nationalist leader, who was arrested August 1 at the outset of a new disobedience campaign and committed to Yeroda jail here for a year because he refused to obey a command to cease political activities, threatened to start the fast unless he was given full rights as a state or political prisoner.

At present he is treated as an ordinary prisoner, and certain privileges have been denied him. He had written the inspector-general of jails, asking for rights he enjoyed previously.

Thus he would be enabled, the Mahatma indicated, to conduct a campaign for the regeneration of the untouchables as he did while imprisoned to May 5 when he started a three-weeks' fast in protest against "untouchability."

It was believed that the Mahatma's new fast was due to the fact he has been unable to supply his usual articles to the press this week.

"PEGGING" REMOVED, CEREALS DROP THE EXTREME LIMITS

Chicago, Aug. 16 (P).—With the removal of "pegged" minimum prices for grains on the board of trade today, all cereals dropped the extreme limits permitted at the opening.

While "pegging" was withdrawn, the daily price restrictions of five cents for wheat, rye and barley, four cents for corn and three cents for oats remained in effect and prices promptly sank the limit.

Some of the opening prices were September wheat 87 1/2c, September corn 45 1/2c, September oats 33 1/2c and September rye 62 cents.

Trading in Chicago for the past several days has been in the doldrums, the market merely going through the routine. Opening prices had been at the pegged figures and remained stationary throughout the session with few transactions recorded.

Most of the interest had been centered on the Winnipeg quotations. The directors of the Big Canadian Exchange today put into effect pegged minimum prices there.

FIRE IN CLOTHING CALLED OUT FIREMEN ON TUESDAY

Fire that broke out in some clothing on a chair near the bed in the bedroom of the apartments of Harold Hart at 19 Ann street caused an alarm of fire to be turned in from Box 49, about 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. When the firemen arrived it was found that neighbors had extinguished the fire with pails of water. There was considerable smoke and but little damage. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Aug. 16 (P).—The position of the treasury on August 14 was: Receipts $2,442,375.20; expenditures $12,752,132.75; balance $753,325,453.29; custom duties for month $14,805,769.21. Receipts for fiscal year (since July 1) $264,751,608.52; expenditures $442,728,957.64 (including $245,555,719.67 emergency expenditures); excess of expenditures $178,955,273.52.

Trade Codes For Four Big Industries Slow Down NRA Progress

Johnson Declares Codes Must Be Agreed Upon Quickly To Provide Minimum Wages and Maximum Hours—Conferees Scheduled.

Washington, Aug. 16 (P).—Voting difficulties in formulating trade codes for the four Trans of American industry—steel, oil, coal and automobiles—today were shortening the present stride of the NRA toward its goal of enfolded all business under work-spreading, pay-raising agreements.

To complicate further the issues affecting these four, Administrator Hugh S. Johnson and his aides were told by organized labor that steel was flaunting the recovery machinery's efforts to compose differences.

Johnson, bringing all NRA facilities to bear on the four major industries, sent word to them that codes must be agreed upon quickly to provide minimum wages and maximum hours.

His action bore full approval of President Roosevelt. Both were eager to bring in these four basic trades, which employ 4,000,000 to 5,000,000 persons.

As a cheery note, NRA officials had judicial approval in principle of their machinery from Justice Joseph W. Cox, of the District of Columbia Supreme Court. In an opinion yesterday, he denied an injunction against sections of the law permitting Federal regulation of oil production, challenged as unconstitutional.

The latest industrial entry in the campaign was newspapers. For them, Johnson approved a modification of the national re-employment agreement submitted by the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Effective pending consideration of a permanent code. The plan prescribes, with exceptions, a 40-hour week and minimum salaries of from $12 to $15, among other things.

A conference today with representatives of the labor unions, emulated in a labor war, was looked to hopefully to start smoothing out their difficulties.

Oil chieftains were due to talk over with Johnson tomorrow an agreement for them which he has just about completed. Forecasts were that this will grant at least in part their appeal for price supervision.

No Word From Henry Ford

A hearing on the automobile code proposed by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce opens Friday. Plans for this were discussed yesterday with Robert W. Lea, the deputy administrator. No word had come from Henry Ford, employer of thousands in this trade, on his attitude toward the program offered.

A hope that steel's turmoil over the question of company unions could be immediately dissipated exploded yesterday in a charge by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, that industry leaders walked out of a conference with recovery officials because of his presence.

Explaining that he was present at yesterday's conference as a member of the NRA labor advisory board as well as on the invitation of Secretary Perkins, Green asserted that the walking out of steel leaders was a "challenge to the government," and added:

"The question is whether steel is to dictate to the government or whether the government is going to set steel machinery under the Industrial Recovery Act and require industry to work with that machinery."

Protest His Exclusion

Shortly thereafter, the labor advisory board formally protested his exclusion.

Johnson, as retail lumbermen began a formal code hearing, had little to say about the open bubbling of smoldering differences between labor and industry. At first he was under the impression Green was not the labor advisor assigned to steel.

"I have never delegated Green to act for me in that matter," he said. "He wasn't over there in connection with my conduct of the NRA."

Later, without elaborating upon his views of Green's charges, Johnson issued this statement:

"My understanding was that Miss Perkins was labor advisor on the steel code. I had been so informed by Mr. (K. M.) Simpson (deputy administrator) and Miss Perkins. I had not heard of the selection of Mr. Green as advisor when I was asked about it at the newspaper conference today and therefore assumed that it was an error."

"I now find that he was named by Chairman Wolman, of the labor advisory board, July 31, the day of the hearing. Miss Perkins had been named several days before and indeed had gone on a tour of the steel industry in preparation to act as such."

Johnson described it as "Miss Perkins' party" and declined further discussion. The labor secretary, who continued in conference with the steel leaders without Green, made no statement.

In some labor quarters, the view was expressed freely that steel conference should be halted until Green was admitted. The steel men involved withheld comment.

Committed To Jail

Nathan Horowitz, 65, of Kerhonkson, was committed to the Ulster county jail Tuesday by order of County Judge Traver. He is being held on a contempt of court charge in that he failed to pay a judgment recently secured against him as county court.

How Do You Obtain The Blue Eagle?

(Official Statement)

A. By 100 per cent compliance.
B. In case code has been submitted.
C. Through petition for relief.

To all employers who are not working under codes approved by the President, use one of these three methods:

A. Sign the President's Reemployment Agreement. Mail it to the District Office of the Department of Commerce. Put its provisions into operation. Sign the Certificate of Compliance. Hand it to your local postmaster who will post your name on the Honor Roll and deliver samples of the NRA Blue Eagle.

B. Sign the President's Reemployment Agreement. Mail it to the District Office of the Department of Commerce. Put its provisions into operation. Sign the Certificate of Compliance with this endorsement: "To the extent of NRA consent as announced we have complied with the President's Agreement by conforming with the substituted provisions of the code submitted for the trade or industry." Present this to your local postmaster who will post your name on the Honor Roll and deliver the NRA Blue Eagle.

C. Sign the President's Reemployment Agreement. Mail it to the District Office of the Department of Commerce. If you find its provisions are mostly impossible, then prepare a petition to the NRA asking for a stay or postponement of those provisions which would produce an "unavoidable hardship." Submit this petition to the trade association of your industry, or if none, to your local Chamber of Commerce, or such other commercial organization as can properly vouch for the facts. It will be forwarded by one of the above, and the following to the office of your code: "Except for those insuring provisions regarding wages and hours which have been approved by the Trade Association." Then the postmaster will authorize you to use the NRA Blue Eagle. This last procedure may take some time and is, of course, subject to reversal when your petition is reviewed by the NRA.

These instructions are furnished by the local NRA Committee under General Cullerton. Further information may be procured from the headquarters in the Y. M. C. A. It is the intent to give further instructions through these columns.

Clam digging has been stimulated to such an extent by the sale of 3.2 beer in California that closer supervision has to be exercised by the state board of health.

Rat's Cancer Cured

by Cobra's Venom

Paris.—Dr. Albert Calmette, under-director of the Pasteur Institute and member of the Academy of Medicine, announced that the Institute had stopped the growth of cancer in a white rat by using the cobra venom treatment discovered by Dr. Adolph Moenke-Lesser of New York.

The rat cancer is a much simpler form than cancer in humans, he said.

"We proved successful in treatment of the cancer in a white rat," said Doctor Calmette, "after twelve injections of venom, each of which represented one-tenth of a mortal dose."

LOCAL NRA HAPPENINGS

NOTED IN KINGSTON

(Contributed)

"Rose and Gorman are complying with the NRA 100 per cent and faithfully supporting it. We have added new employees and our payroll has been considerably advanced," said V. A. Gorman when interviewed today by a member of the local NRA drive.

The purposes of the NRA are to eliminate unfair trade practices, to increase the consumption of industrial and agricultural products by increasing purchasing power; to reduce and relieve unemployment; to improve standards of labor and otherwise; to rehabilitate industry; and to conserve natural resources," spoke County NRA Chairman John Matthews to an interested listener.

the local NRA committee that a great many Kingstonians are becoming NRA conscious. Such an incident occurred when two prospective customers accosted a Wall Street merchant and asked, "Where is the Blue Eagle?" Finding none there, they proceeded to search for one.

While conversing with an employee of an uptown drug store, we learned that his hours had been reduced from 12 per week to 45 and had no pay cut. Two new employees were added to compensate for the hours reduced.

Persian Splendors

The beautiful palaces and mosques of the city of Isfahan were mostly built by Shah Abbas, 1588-1629, and are still in good condition. Recent regulations have opened these magnificent examples of Persian art to visitors, without requiring special permission of the shah. Isfahan remains today typical of ancient Persian splendor.

HORSESHOE PITCHING CHAMPIONSHIPS AUG. 25

The annual county horseshoe pitching championships, sponsored by the Farm Bureau, will take place on Friday, August 25, at the new armory in Kingston. The contest will be in charge of Frank DuFon, veteran horseshoe pitcher, and will start promptly at 1 p. m. Eight courts will be in readiness for practice in the forenoon. All amateur "backyard golf" enthusiasts are invited to participate. The winner will be the county champion and will receive a free trip to the State Fair in Syracuse, through the courtesy of the American Agriculturist, bi-weekly farm paper, and the State Fair authorities. In 1931 Chester Albertson of Mariborough won the county contest and also the state championship at Syracuse. Many in all parts of the county have been practicing all summer and a very interesting contest is expected.

Fertilization of Fish Eggs

The first record of artificial fertilization of fish eggs is of the practices of an Austrian monk, Don Plachon, who practiced methods of hatching trout. Artificial fertilization was discovered by Lieut. G. L. Jacob in 1763. Fish farms were then established in Germany and the fish produced became an important article of commerce.

Woman Speaker—And now, if there is a man here who will acknowledge that he would deceive his wife, let him stand up.

FLEISCHMANN'S CHURCH ORDERED TO PAY FOR WATER.

The officials of the village of Fleischmanns told the church that there was no charge for the water the church used and did not render any bills for water to the church for years. Now a new board has taken office and they sent a large bill to a member of the church board for all the years of free water and demanded payment or the water would be shut off. As the church could not pay the large bill presented, the water was shut off last Wednesday and the church and the pastor, the Rev. F. P. Venable, and family, are without water.

Suspected Kidnap
Gang in Wisconsin*Knaedel to Address
Poultrymen August 19

Chicago, Aug. 16 (AP).—Fifty police with machine guns and rifles were rushed from Chicago into southern Wisconsin today in an attempt to capture a band of suspected kidnapers.

Police said the desperadoes sought probably were members of the same gang as the two fugitives who eluded 350 officers after a gun battle on Chicago's western outskirts yesterday.

The exact destination of the mobilization of police was secret but it was known to be in the Wisconsin summer resort region.

The notorious Touhy gang, four members of which have been named as the $100,000 kidnapers of William Hamm, Jr., St. Paul brewer, are known to make their headquarters in the region.

George "Bugs" Moran, gang leader destroyed by the killing of seven followers in the St. Valentine's Day massacre, also has operated there.

The police mobilization into the nearby state was led by Lieut. Andrew Barry, in charge of the kidnap division of the Chicago police department. Authority for the expedition was given by the federal government.

Detectives under Barry were said to have investigated in the district for weeks, disguised as farmers and tourists. Several hide ways of gangsters and suspected kidnapers were reported to have been found.

Commercial Exhibit At Agricultural Show

Interest in the County Fair Exhibit at the new armory next week is much greater than anticipated by the Agricultural Society officials. Many business men are planning to put up commercial exhibits. Those who have already reserved space include: M. H. Herzog, Everett and Treadwell, Rogn and Gorman, F. B. Matthews & Co., Kingston Lumber Co., Valentin Buggovin, Inc., King's Landscaping Service, Colonial Electrical Appliances, Inc., Howard's Pop Corn Shop, and Jerry Lipkowitz of Napanoch.

Information regarding space may be secured from E. W. Hathaway, 48 Main street, Kingston, secretary of the Agricultural Society.

FRIED PUMPKIN BLOSSOMS RURAL MISSOURI TIDBIT

King City, Mo. (AP).—Pumpkin pie, favorite autumn dessert, has a summer forerunner in this part of the country—fried pumpkin blossoms.

After being gathered from the vine, the large yellow blossoms are dropped for a few minutes into salt water. Then they are dipped into a batter made of milk, flour, egg, a pinch of salt, and sugar.

The blossoms, covered with the batter, are placed in a hot skillet greased with butter, and cooked until crisp and brown.

Prof. H. C. Knaedel of Penn State University will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Ulster County Poultry Club at 8:15, Thursday evening, August 17, at the Court House in Kingston. He will discuss the "Fall and Winter Management of Poultry" and answer questions asked by poultrymen.

Prof. Knaedel is one of the leading poultry authorities and the Farm Bureau has been very fortunate to secure his services for this meeting. The poultry research men have been doing some excellent work on poultry problems at Penn State and Prof. Knaedel will be glad to discuss those which are of interest to Ulster county poultrymen.

POISONED CHILDREN.
THEN RELENTED ACT

Detroit, Aug. 16 (AP).—Mrs. Beatrice Stanley, who said her husband had been unemployed for two years, was held by police today following the poisoning at breakfast of her three children.

Detectives said the woman told them she found only a dish of jelly in the home for breakfast, and decided "there was no use going on with it." They said she admitted placing the poison in the jelly, but relented when the children became ill and called neighbors.

The children, Gordon, 5, Annetta, 7, and Jean, 5, were rushed to a hospital where physicians said they believed all would recover although they suffered serious effects.

The detective said Mrs. Stanley told them she intended to end her own life by taking the poison, "after I made sure the children were dead."

FIREMEN CHOOSE GENEVA FOR 1934 CONVENTION

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Aug. 16 (AP).—The State Volunteer Firemen's Association today chose Geneva for the 1934 convention.

All officers were re-elected. They were: Harry M. Hoop, Bronxville, president; Chris W. Noll, Poughkeepsie, first vice president; Eugene M. Braun, Eggertsville, second vice president; Fred A. Davis, Fort Edward, secretary; William H. Swarthout, Brooklyn, treasurer. George M. Solan, of Hollis, Louis A. Gerard, of New Rochelle, and Levi L. Rogers, of Potsdam, were re-elected to the executive committee.

STRIKE ORDER AFFECTS SOME 60,000 GARMENT WORKERS

New York, Aug. 16 (AP).—A strike order affecting some 60,000 garment workers went into effect at 9 a. m. eastern standard time, today, but as rallying places of the strikers were scattered through the city it was difficult to determine to how great an extent the order was obeyed.

More than 150 extra police, including detectives from the radical and bomb squads, were posted in the garment district in the West Thirtieth, but there were no early indications that any disturbance was likely.

The strike was called to demand a 34-hour week and to protest against alleged sweatshop conditions in the dress industry.

OVERLOOKED CAR HE CHASED IN SWIFT SPIN

Roseton Junction, N. Y., Aug. 16 (AP).—Deputy Sheriff William Landry jumped into his automobile last night as another car careened over a railroad crossing and sped toward Schenectady.

Sixty, seventy miles an hour—Landry drove in pursuit, but did not overtake the car. At Schenectady, 10 miles away, he turned around and started back.

At slower speed, his headlights revealed a splash in the road. Wrapped around a pole he found the wrecked car, the driver, Rudolph Kishka, 22, of Schenectady, dead on a barbed wire fence, and a passenger, Alexander Jackowitz, 22, of Schenectady, with a possible fracture of the skull.

OUR DAILY PATTERNS

A Dainty Morning Frock

7935. Housework will be less tiring or boring if one can wear a frock so becoming as the one here illustrated. It may be finished with or without the "push up" sleeve that is pictured in the small front view, in which the ruffles are omitted. Or it may be made as in the large view with ruffles and without the sleeves. The waist blouses slightly above a narrow belt. The straight line two piece skirt is mounted on a deep yoke, shaped in the front in pointed outline. Voile was selected for this model—blue with white dots. The ruffles are of organdy. Gingham or percale is also suggested.

Designed in 7 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 38 will require 3 1/2 yards of 28 inch material together with 1/2 yard of contrasting material for the ruffles. If made without contrast, add with sleeves as in the small front view. 4 1/2 yards will be required. To finish with bias binding as in the large view, will require 2 yards 1 1/2 inch wide. The width of the dress at the lower edge is 1 2-3 yards.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Book of Fashions, Fall and Winter. Send 15c in silver or stamps for our FALL and WINTER BOOK OF FASHIONS containing designs of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Patterns, also Hints to the Home Dressmaker.

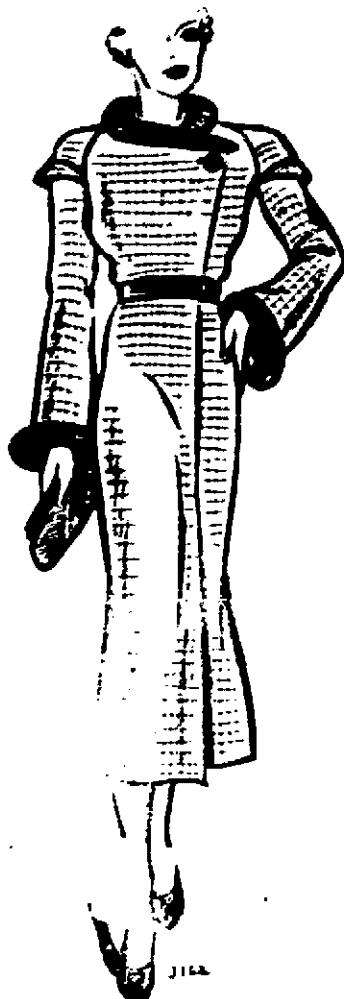

Wild Fingers Extinct. The passenger pigeon, which formerly was found in North America in countless numbers is now extinct, the last specimen dying in the Cincinnati Zoological gardens in 1914, says Pathfinder Magazine. Careful hunting and the appropriation of nesting places in the Mississippi valley caused the bird to die out.

The botany collection of the University of California contains approximately 500,000 specimens.

Fashions by Eleanor Gunn

As Fall Fashions Come Into the Open

RED WITH BLUE TRIM

Copyright, 1933, by Fairchild.

New York—There is always something dashing and military about blue trimmed with red. It is young, too. There are two good and sufficient reasons for having these colors always more or less in fashion.

Having acquired the habit of wearing red, women, young and old, seem loathe to give it up. One hears it's the brighter reds that are most popular, although both dark and light reds are favored. There are those who vote for the darker range, including vintage, or wine reds, and there are those who can't get their reds brilliant enough. The only real help we can be to you is to advise you to consider both the occasion and the color of your eyes.

One of the newest colors to be talked about everywhere, and seen here and there, is pearly blue, which hardly needs any further explanation. It, and sea gray, are the featured colors of the moment, with greens also coming in strong as fall models are coming from under cover.

To those who are accustomed to Paris, and who have recently returned from there, the first thing that impresses them is the abundance of color worn on our streets. Even with black as much worn as it is now, their first impression is of how little black we wear as compared to the Parisiennes. We do follow their cue in millinery, however, the great percentage of hats being black as a usual thing.

Although all signs look good for fur this winter, and everyone expects an abundance of it will be worn, there are many ultra-smart coats that manage very well without any. Monkey is the fur-fad of the moment, and is appropriate enough for the season lacking as it does, any suggestion of warmth.

A topcoat in novelty lightweight red woven woolen fabric trimmed with knit navy blue collar, cuffs and belt. The dropped shoulder line which is a strong feature of the Worth Sport showing, is used here.

A New Deal in Velvet

Copyright, 1933, by Fairchild.

Velvet, plain or fancy, is used in an interesting semi-formal blouse designed for theatre, dinner and afternoon wear. The one sketched above in a sheer dull velvet or sap-phire blue with shirred sleeves and soft flappy bows to carry out the semi-formal idea. One of the link closing evening jackets to be featured in velvet, with crystal buttons, and jaunty triple flares at the shoulders.

Box Pleats Return

Box pleats are being used again in the bodices of dresses, in jackets and longer coats, frequently open, but sometimes stitched down. They are usually at the back but sometimes carry their tuxedo effect around to the front as well. The shirtwaists with three pleats at the back and the leather jackets with box pleats held into a trim line by knitted or latex fabric on the inside are further examples.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

Schlaparelli blues are important in the fall color story, in crepes, in taffeta, in evening satine and in woollens.

Jacquard rabbit's hair jerseys in raised check or diamond patterns and lively young colors are appearing in many sportswear lines. All-over mixture effects are also leaders in the hairy woolen jerseys.

Fruit Your After Noons

A peculiar characteristic of the witch hazel bush is that it blossoms late in autumn and full year elapses between the appearance of its flowers and the maturing of its fruit.

HOMESPUN YARN

Pongee dresses should be ironed dry, on the right side.

Fresh mint leaves, slightly bruised, add flavor to summer fruit beverages.

If the attic windows are kept open the house will be cooler in summer.

Floors must be cleaned thoroughly before they are painted; paint will not stick to dirt or grease.

For safety, can all vegetables immediately after picking. If they are allowed to stand in a warm kitchen, flat-sour may develop.

Sheer material like chiffon will not pucker when it is stitched on the machine if strips of paper are placed underneath it and the stitching is done through both fabric and paper.

Save left-over egg yolks by covering them with cold water and setting them in the refrigerator, or by dropping them into boiling water and cooking them until they are hard. The cooked yolk may be pressed through a sieve when cold and used to garnish creamed dishes or salads.

Legality of Lobbying

The first amendment guarantees the right of people to petition the government. When lobbying is simply the attempt to influence legislation by petition, or by a statement of one's side of a case, it is entirely legitimate. When it stoops to intimidation or bribery it ceases to be legal.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

By The Associated Press
Pittsburgh, Aug. 16 (AP).—Two years ago Fire Captain Gilbert Westphal dropped through a burning floor in a box factory blaze. His wife, herself ill, nursed him back to comfort if not complete recovery from injuries. Death came to Mrs. Westphal, and less than 24 hours after her burial, Westphal died. His son says a broken heart was the cause.

Electrician Rescues Iowa NRA
Des Moines, Ia.—The NRA in Iowa came to a complete halt yesterday—until rescued by an electrician.
As the Iowa board for the recovery program was proceeding to its meeting in a statehouse elevator a fuse blew out and the car stalled between floors.

New Tombstone Trend.
Milwaukee, Wis.—Maybe you hadn't noticed it, but there's a swing away from tall ornate gravestones in this country. The association of American Cemetery Superintendents at its annual convention reported it is quite widespread and that quiet dignity and simplicity are super-seding older preferences.

A Dead Man Was Driving.
Des Moines, Ia.—An automobile sped down one of this city's busiest thoroughfares yesterday and crashed against a post. It was discovered its driver, Arthur R. Flinn, apparently had died from a heart attack before the crash.

Groan and Grunt for 75 Cents.
Milwaukee, Wis.—The groan and grunt boys of wrestling matches here get from 75 cents to $1.50 for contortions. Frank Marcus, one of them, testified in a judgment suit.
A janitor sought to collect $2 a night for setting up chairs in the hall but Judge T. J. Pruss ruled that setting up chairs was not as hard work as wrestling, so he dismissed the action.

Trolley Art.
Seattle—The Municipal Street Railway decided to paint its orange cars red and green. Citizens set up such a commotion for and against the color scheme a committee from the Seattle Art Museum is to pass on the matter.

Wanted, Crazy Thief.
Portland, Ore.—While Portland sizzled in a temperature of 103, the stillest August day ever recorded by the weather bureau here, somebody broke into J. C. Pederson's store and stole a second toboggan.

Sleep by Police Order.
Wilmington, Del.—Truck drivers are snoozing along Delaware's highways today, but it's due neither to the depression nor the recovery program.

State police are stopping trucks and, whenever they find the drivers or helpers have been working more than 16 hours, the troopers compel them to sleep. Confiscation of drivers' licenses for eight hours assures compliance.

NEW RESTAURANT TO OPEN IN SERVICENTER

A new restaurant will be open for business tomorrow in the Brown Servicenter building on Broadway.
It will be known as the "Servicenter Restaurant," and will specialize in home cooking. I. Jacobson is the manager of the new eating establishment.

Plan Annual Clambake.
Rain or shine the annual clam-bake to be held by Kingston Post American Legion, will take place on Sunday afternoon, August 20, at the
I. J. B. Ark at Eddyville. The bake will be prepared by John Schumler who is an old timer at the job. The bake will be served at 2 o'clock and continue until all have been served.
Tickets are available from members of the Post or at the Memorial building. Transportation will be furnished those who purchase tickets and have no way of getting to and from the bake if they will communicate with the Post. It is expected that many of the fair sex who enjoy a good clambake in pleasant surroundings will be present.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—If Chester Morris had made his entry into pictures in any other manner than the one he chose or chance dictated, he might have been twice as rich as he is today.

On the other hand, "Chester" admits, he might have been many times poorer, or not even in pictures at all.

At any rate, Morris now for the first time in his picture career is getting what he wants, after four years of earning much more than he got.

All of which perhaps needs explanation. It means simply that four years under personal contract to Roland West, director, are now terminated, and Chester Morris is on his own. He can pick his pictures, isn't under contract to anybody—except by the picture—and he gets all his salary except the customary agent's percentage.

Sudden Fame
Morris, you'll remember, was a stage actor who made one of the first big hits of the talkies. In Roland West's "Alibi." His portrayal of the gangster was to bring him a sudden rise to fame, but until it was presented here, some four months after it was completed, nobody knew our Chester was around.

The extent of Hollywood's disregard of Chester's presence was so profound that he was all ready to go back to New York where at least he had a chance of getting a stage part.

The night after the preview Roland West offered him a contract, guaranteeing him so much a year, with a 50-50 split on earnings. It was a gamble, of course, but West maintained he never lost on a gamble.

Chester signed, and West was right—he didn't lose. Soon Chester was in such demand that West could offer him for $75,000 a picture and find takers. Even at "cut rates" he honoring the well known depression —there were producers willing to pay $50,000 for the Morris name and services.

On His Own Now

His first picture on his own is "Golden Harvest," and he's in training now to play the boxer in "Kid Glove." After that there are several other films lined up, and the Morris future looks rosy.

"One of the best things about it," he says, "is that I can choose the pictures I'll play in now. Under my contract I had to work in everything that came along."

cers of the association are Charles well, secretary; Charles Dixon, treasurer, and Peter Keresman who is a Kingston: "Zoo in Budapest." An unusual picture, this tale of a boy lover of animals and how they affect his life. Gene Raymond is the boy, and Loretta Young the girl who falls in love with him. The real vital of the story is a tiger, the hero an elephant. Excellent photography, well directed, understandingly played by Mr. Raymond and Miss Young, along with some excellent settings, as well as a number of thrills, make this picture good entertainment. The animal scenes, especially some of the sights, are examples of the amazing ability of the movie camera to transform reality and terror to the screen.

Orpheum: "Too Busy to Work."
Will Rogers the star, and Marion Nixon are featured in this comedy especially created for Rogers' talent.
"Secrets of the French Police" is one of those murder mystery melodramas, this time laid in France, with a cast that offers Frank Morgan, Gwili Andre and Gregory Ratoff.

Broadway: "The Barbarian." A movie romance of the Rudolph Valentino school is this always delightful and oftentimes comical talkie of an Egyptian dragoon of Cairo, played by Ramon Novarro, and how he falls in love with a girl who has come there to marry her sweetheart. Mr. Novarro, a romantic scamp, breaks up the couple and kidnaps the girl, taking her to his desert hideaway. Of course she falls under his spell. Myrna Loy makes a charming heroine, and Reginald Denny is perfectly cast in the role of the other man. This sort of thing is what Mr. Novarro does best, and those who like their romance well done will find this agreeable entertainment.

Tomorrow:
Kingston: "The Woman Accused."
Another of those talkies where a girl kills her former sweetheart.
Things look black until who comes along but a handsome young lawyer with an understanding heart, and the damsel is saved from an awful future. Nancy Carroll and Gary Grant are the main attraction, with Jack LaRue and John Halliday in featured roles. Exciting melodrama.
Orpheum: Same.

Broadway: "When Strangers Meet." This plot has been worked out before on the screen. Jack Holt, with a new bride and a job in the tropics, goes there looking forward to happiness and love. But things turn out badly. The young wife becomes bored looking at palm trees, and she finds more interest in looking for men. She finds one, and naturally that causes trouble. Jack Holt and Lillian Bond are the stars of this production.

Lights of New York

by L. L. STEVENSON

So far as I have been able to discover, there are only three wooden horse still on duty in New York. They are in the district between Lexington and Third avenues, Twenty-third and Twenty-fifth streets. As wooden horses always have done, they mark the sites of harness shops. They are old horses and the shops are old. In fact, horses and shops are monuments to former times and it is significant that the three stand where they do. In the horse days, the great horse market, one of the largest in the world, was situated right in that district. Three times a week, auctions were held and thousands of dollars worth of horse flesh changed hands. All the horses used on the various street car lines were sold there. But the horses were not confined to work animals by any means. There were thoroughbreds also, including fine mounts that had come from distant countries.

A big building was a part of the market. In it was a track and a gallery. Prospective purchasers sat in the gallery and watched the horses go through their paces. That was a source of profit to youngsters of the neighborhood. While the blue bloods looked on, they'd earn spending money. Many lads employed nearby would slip over at luncheon time and earn a quarter or so. The horse show was also held in that amphitheater and in that day the horse show was an attraction for society that rivaled even the opera. Many an old New Yorker goes over to the site of the horse market nowadays just to prow around among ghosts of his youth.

Speaking of ghosts, there are the ghost writers. In times past, the ghost writer—as his name might indicate—was a fictitious sort of person. No matter what happened, he never came out into the open. His accomplishments might bring a lot of praise and publicity, but never for him. But times have changed. Recently, I noted another ad of a bureau of ghost writers, an organization ready to supply anything from an article to a speech or from a short story to a book. All the one desirous of literary reputation of one kind or another has to do is to furnish a name—and a fee. The fee is important as even ghost writers have to live. In fact, that's why they are ghost writers. They are content to take the fee and let the credit go.

The foregoing has nothing to do with the fact that a broken leg made Gene Byrnes an artist, since he needs no ghost to help him turn out "Regular Fellers." Byrnes started life in the shoe business. An accident caused him to be rushed to what is now Reconstruction hospital. There he learned it would be weeks before he could walk again. So to pass away the time, he took up drawing and now each day he turns out a comic strip.

Stopped in a Forty-seventh street book store—one of those narrow little shops that are so numerous in midtown—and noticing a garden in the rear, wandered on back. There were walks and shrubs but my attention was centered on rows of bookcases. There patrons may browse all they please out in the open air. A thought occurred to me and I questioned the young woman in charge, "What do you do when it rains?" Without a word, she pointed to a large sign, "We take them in." Maybe, some day, I'll learn something about New York.

Mallard Duck Attacks Workers to Protect Nest

Bend, Ore.—A mallard duck, whose setting of eggs was strategically located in an important part of the Shevlin-Hixon lumber mill, almost upset plans for reopening the mill. She attacked all workers who came near her nest and refused to be budged from it. The problem finally was solved by moving the planks upon which her nest was built.

Pearl Teeth Found in Indian's Skull

Harrisburg, Pa.—Teeth set with pearls is the newest archeology discovery in Pennsylvania. The teeth, taken from an Indian skull unearthed in Westmoreland county, show pearl-like formations either between the prongs of the tooth or on the root proper. The natural formations resembling pearls range from tiny spherical projections to one of good size. Scientists are baffled as to when and how the pearls got into the teeth. There are some who believe the formations resulted from eating excessive sea foods, but actual proof of this theory has not been brought to light. The pearl teeth have been placed on display in the Indian room of the Pennsylvania state museum.

Pomeranian and Spitz Dogs

Casual historians and zoologists are agreed that the Pomeranian's abundantly coated tail, thrown over the back, is characteristic of dogs that come from the snowy Arctic regions. His general appearance indicates that Samoyede, Eskimo and Chow blood was used in the Pomeranian's foundation and development. Wandering tribes of Northland folk are believed to have introduced individuals of this breed into the Province of Pomerania in Germany. From this union the German Spitz evolved. This Spitz is much larger and heavier than the Pomeranian. Careful selection along with considerable inbreeding reduced the size and bred the Pom's present-day miniature type.

Grievance Day Was Financially Slimly Attended and Commercial

Tuesday was Grievance Day at the city hall to give taxpayers an opportunity to meet City Assessor William R. Martin and talk over their assessments. The attendance was the slimmest since Mr. Martin has served the city as an assessor and would indicate that residents as a whole are satisfied with the assessments laid against their properties.

DISAGREE ON FEE FOR LIQUOR LICENSES

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 16 (AP).—Republican insistence that liquor license fees for upstate New York be fixed on a sliding scale ranging from $400 to $1,200 a year, as against Governor Lehman's plan for a flat $100 per month fee in every locality, held up presentation of the New York state liquor control bill in the legislature today.

New York, Aug. 16 (AP).—After opening cautiously through cloudy fields of grain and cotton, security markets stumbled over further real and imaginary uncertainties today and slipped rather abruptly to lower price levels.

Most trading eyes were centered on Chicago where the Board of Trade authorities pulled the "peg" on previous restrictions and wheat, corn, oats, rye and barley dropped the full allowable daily limit. Wheat at Winnipeg also sagged around 2 cents a bushel. Cotton, apparently in sympathy with the grain situation, slumped about $2 a bale at one time. Bonds were heavy. The dollar was steady in foreign exchange dealings. Stocks muddled about rather dully until about noon when a half-hour selling flurry toppled the list for

Sun-down Stories

Willy Nilly's Discovery
By MARY GRAHAM BONNER
"There are my scissors!" shouted Willy Nilly.
"Where?" quacked and barked and growled and growled the others.
"In the fireplace."
Willy Nilly walked over to the fireplace, which was piled high with ashes, as he had not had time to take them away. Out from the bed of ashes he pulled one pair of scissors and then another, and then a third pair.
"How in the world did they get there?" Willy Nilly asked in a puzzled tone of voice, and then he turned to the Crow.
"Don't you know?"
"Caw, caw," answered Christopher, paying no attention to the question. "I've had a delicious supper and I must be going now."
"Christopher Columbus Crew, please explain how my scissors got in the fireplace. You must know."
"You see I didn't take the scissors to my nest and I didn't hide them anywhere," Christopher said. "It was very hard being left alone and I had been through such a scare as almost drowning."
"You had all seen to it that I was fully recovered but I felt it wasn't very thoughtful to go right off swimming when I was still nervous and wanted company."
"It wasn't very nice of us to do that," Willy Nilly agreed. "We were thoughtful. So you forgive us and we'll forgive you, but what made you hide the scissors in the ashes of the fireplace?"
"But I didn't hide them," persisted Christopher.
"I don't understand," said Willy Nilly.

Broader Mortgage Bill in Senate

Would Baroque Mortgages Until July 1, 1934, on Mortgage Foreclosure Against All Real Property, Provided Taxes and Insurance Have Been Paid.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 16 (AP).—The New York Legislature moved today to declare a moratorium until July 1, 1934, on mortgage foreclosures against all real property, provided taxes and interest have been paid. A bill to carry out this plan was presented in the Senate by Senator Joseph D. Numan, Queens Democrat, who said that both the Republicans and Democrats had agreed in conference to support it.

The plan, said to have been agreed upon by the party leaders in conference, is more far-reaching than the one proposed by Governor Herbert H. Lehman in his special message to the lawmakers two weeks ago. Mr. Lehman asked for a moratorium on home and farm mortgage foreclosures until May 1, 1934.

During hearings on the Governor's mortgage relief plan, scores of small home owners protested that no lending institutions were foreclosing on homes for non-payment of principal. Other property owners declared that they were "hoarding" money that ought to be spent for property improvements, in order to protect themselves and that if the moratorium was extended to all property this money would be put to work for improvement.

Governor Lehman has not revealed his attitude toward the broader mortgage plan sponsored by Senator Numan.

PORT SLOCUM SOLDIER KILLED, ANOTHER WOUNDED

New Rochelle, N. Y., Aug. 16 (AP).—Private Donald J. Zinn of York, Pa., was shot and killed at Fort Slocum today and Corporal Truman E. Smith of Lima, O., was critically wounded. Pending investigation army officials would disclose few details of the shooting.

It was learned that Zinn, who enlisted at York June 19, was found unconscious on the floor in the basement of the receiving barracks and died half an hour later. Corporal Smith, who had been in the army for 25 years, was also found in the receiving barracks with wounds from which it was feared he might not recover.

SUBNORMAL CONDITION OF MANY CROPS REPORTED

Ithaca, N. Y., Aug. 16 (AP).—The full effects of New York state's recent long continued drought now are being reflected in subnormal condition of many crops, says the weekly summary for the state, issued by the United States Department of Agriculture weather bureau here.

"Rain is still needed in some places for plowing and to replenish wells and streams," says the report. "Pastures show improvement where the rains have been heavy, but in most sections they are very short. The oat harvest is well along, with much threshing being done in the field. Corn shows much improvement, but in some places it is too stunted to make a crop.

"The rains were too late for early potatoes, but late potatoes are greatly improved. Beans are good in some places, but very poor where the drought was severe; some fields are being dragged up for wheat. "It was so dry when most of the late cabbage was set that it made a poor start. However, recent rains will help the crop to some extent. Fruits where well cared for are in good condition. Pears are the lightest of any of the tree fruits. Early varieties of apples, peaches and pears are being marketed with fair returns."

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD

(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

A couple of weeks ago things looked very dark in a baseball way down where the Big Muddy flows past St. Louis. The Cardinals, under the valiant Gabby Street, were at a standstill. Everyone had expected them to be fighting frantically at this time for the National League lead. The Browns were losing ball games so easily and peacefully that most of the fans had forgotten they were still in the American League.

Then along came the first big managerial shift of the year and Frankie Frisch dropped into Street's place at the head of the Cardinals while Rogers Hornsby swaps leagues and takes over the management of the Browns in Bill Killefer's place. Immediately things begin to happen. Frisch picks the Cards up by the scruff of their necks and starts them on a winning streak that will wind up, I believe, with their winning the National League pennant. Dizzy Dean hits one of those days and fans 17 Cubs to set a new league record. The Cards are awaking!

Hornsby, with little hope of getting anywhere this year, hasn't been idle either. A fighting leader, who never inspires any emotions in between either outright admiration or absolute hate, the Rajah has taken a tight hold. He thinks he can teach several of the Browns, particularly Campbell and Leroy, to be real hitters. He has an idea the pitchers have been careless in not pitching to known batting weaknesses of the enemy.

Street Had Trouble

Street's downfall at St. Louis was not hard to foresee. All season, with the biggest and best pitching staff in baseball, the Gabbler has had trouble with his hurling strategy. He worked Dean and Carleton overtime, and others, particularly Jess Haines and Dezz Vane, he worked too little for them to keep the edge of pitching effectiveness. In addition to that ball players say his team was beginning to "stand around" on him. A change was imperative.

Frisch promptly set the veteran Haines to work and got a four hit performance in return for his confidence in the old timer. Dean started pitching in rotation, keeping his turn, and he broke the league strikeout record. The club is hitting again.

In addition to being second basemen, the both of them, Frisch and Hornsby have much in common. Both were great ball players and both studied for managerial jobs under the greatest pilot of them all, John J. McGraw, of the Giants.

Frisch, in his way, is just as tough as Hornsby, just as aggressive, as brilliant in baseball brains, as natural a leader. The Browns will play ball for Hornsby or they'll leave for other pastures. The same goes for Frisch and the Cardinals. Both inspire loyalty in their players. Both are broad-minded when it comes to overlooking indiscretions of a ball field as long as the player continues to deliver when the game is on.

More Gate Receipts

So with Frisch at the head of the Cardinals, Hornsby leading the Browns, baseball should zoom upward in St. Louis. Frisch is certain to get results, which means popularity. You'll either swear by or hate Hornsby, all of which means gate receipts and interest means gate receipts.

Trotters Race in Classic Today

Goshen, N. Y., Aug. 16 (AP).—The little town of Goshen today paid homage to the memory of its equine "first citizen," Hambletonian 10th with the seventh renewal of the Hambletonian stake, a $40,000 race that is considered the "Kentucky Derby" of light harness racing.

Hambletonian 10th, an ancestor of about 95 per cent of the trotters and pacers who compete in the grand circuit races here and all over the country, was born near Goshen and now lies not far from the village with an imposing monument to mark his resting place. Because of this fact, Goshen and William H. Cane, the Hackensack, N. J., contractor who sponsors harness racing at Good Time Park, annually outbids all other towns for the great race of the year and sees 30,000 or more horse lovers pour into a town of perhaps a tenth that size.

The largest crowd ever to see the Hambletonian was expected today as the advance sale of seats and the bookings at the town's two inns and every private house that was open to visitors indicated a record turnout.

A dozen three year old trotters, the largest field since the year the stake was inaugurated, was named to start today and there was not an outstanding favorite on the list.

Black Giants Play The All Stars This Evening

This evening at the Fair Grounds uptown, the Kingston All Stars cross bats with the fast-stepping New York Black Giants, one of the fastest colored clubs in the Metropolitan district. Starting time of the contest is 8 o'clock. A large turnout of fans is expected.

The Black Giants have defeated some of the outstanding New York clubs, including the police department. Only last Sunday they took the blue coats over before 12,000 spectators at the Polo Grounds, according to letters their manager has written to Jack McCardie, All Star bookie.

Bill Page, ace hurler of the negro pitching staff, is expected to toss this evening. He has not been defeated this season. Page formerly played with the Baltimore Black Sox.

Ted Fraleigh of Saugerties will oppose the colored star. Jack Robins, veteran Kingston catcher, will be his battery mate. The rest of the All Star lineup will be the same as usual.

It is the hope of the Kingston club to win and thus fortify itself for the Scranton Colored Stars at the Fair Grounds Friday night. This contest promises to be another exciting battle for the local line.

The All Stars are also scheduled to play Sunday afternoon. Opposition will be furnished by the Highland American Legion. Starting time of the game is 3 o'clock.

An added attraction at this evening's game will be a broadcasting contraption. Features of the game will be commented upon between the innings. Music will be furnished before the contest starts to entertain the fans who arrive early.

Booking Manager McCardie of the evening game says the week warrant it, the twilight contests will be booked for the near future, and may be several night games with teams furnishing lighting plants.

Tagging Major League Bases

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

While American League baseball fans had their eyes turned toward St. Louis and Lou Gehrig's approach to the record, those who follow the National League were watching the Boston Braves today and wondering if they would nominate themselves as official "softeners" of the western clubs for the New York Giants.

Gehrig, who played his 1,365th consecutive game with the New York Yankees and set the batting pace with three hits as they beat the Browns 8 to 5 yesterday, was due to equal "Doc" Everett Scott's major league durability record today, barring rain, injuries or other mishaps.

The Braves started their home stand against the third place Chicago Cubs in a manner which reminded fans of their famous 1926 feat, when they bunched all four western clubs in succession and practically took charge of the pennant race although they finished in seventh place. Yesterday their stunt was to make five hits off Guy Bush good for a 2 to 1 victory over the Cubs, first of three western pennant contenders who visit Braves field before moving on to New York to tackle the league leading Giants in their current tour.

Every one of Boston's hits counted in the scoring while Ben Cantwell managed to hold Chicago to a single unearned run for his 16th victory of the year although he gave ten blows. Two hits produced a Brave run in the second and with the score tied in the ninth, Buck Jordan and Wally Berger hit singles and Randy Moore came through with a double to send in the winning tally.

This result dropped the Cubs a full game behind the idle Pittsburgh Pirates and kept the Braves close behind the fourth place St. Louis Cardinals, who won the only other game on the National League program. With Bill Hallahan pitching six hit ball, the Cards trimmed the Phillies, 5 to 1.

The Yankee victory, gained largely through a fire run rally in the fourth that drove Jack Knott to cover and aided by Herb Pennock's relief pitching when Johnny Allen weakened, served only to keep the world champions 5 1/2 games behind Washington. Trailing the Chicago White Sox in the early innings the Senators whaled Sam Jones for four hits and three runs in the sixth and went on to win 5 to 1. Al Crowder helped himself to his 19th victory of the season by starting two Washington rallies.

A prospective mound duel between Lefty Grove and right handed Wes Ferrell turned out to be a slugging match as the Philadelphia Athletics beat out the Cleveland Indians 8-7. Ferrell yielded 14 hits while the Indians inserted six extra base blows among their nine off Grove. The Boston Red Sox evened their series with Detroit by a 5-3 victory as they rapped Fred Marberry for three doubles in the eighth to tally three runs after the big finger had started the inning with a walk.

Plan Net Game Will Beat Mrs. Moody

By GAYLE TALBOT
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Aug. 16 (AP).—The girls have got together and done a lot of profound thinking and decided there is only one outside chance of depriving Mrs. Helen Wills Moody of her eighty national women's tennis stars in the tournament now in progress at Forest Hills.

It isn't to say that her rivals are preparing to "gang up" on Queen Helen—consciously—but by watching her play here and abroad this season and taking careful note, they nevertheless have arrived at the same conclusion and are preparing to put their theory to a thorough test this week.

Mrs. Moody, 27 now and perhaps not quite so spry as she was a few years back, is going to be run between now and Sunday until, figuratively, her tongue is hanging out. They're ready to admit after a decade that she is unbeatable at baseline tennis. From here on she will get a steady diet of forecourt play.

"It's sheer stupidity to try to beat her from the back court," said one prominent star while watching Queen Helen sweep Dr. Esther Bartosh of Los Angeles to defeat in her opening match yesterday. "But there's a chance she can be stopped by a player who goes to the net on every shot, and keeps her on the run."

The "plot" against Mrs. Moody had its inception as a result of her match with Dorothy Round of England in the Wimbledon bowl, where the British girl captured a set from her. Miss Round rushed in constantly, keeping Mrs. Moody stopping for low, cross-court volleys, and came nearer defeating the world's champion than has any woman in many a year.

What promises to make the situation more the happier for Mrs. Moody is the fact that she still is believed to be handicapped by an injury to her spine. It was sufficiently painful to prevent her competing for the Wightman Cup two weeks ago, and there is doubt she is completely recovered.

Although the field has been narrowed to 32 players in today's second round, the favored stars figure to have at least two more days of easy sailing.

CENTRAL LUMBER NINE TAKES OVER THE ACES

The baseball team representing the Central Lumber Company defeated the Aces at the Athletic Field Tuesday morning by a score of 9-3. J. Strubel and W. Geisler were the winning pitchers with H. Wolf catching. Snyder and Batoff made up the battery of the Aces.

STONE RIDGE BALL CLUB HELD ANNUAL BANQUET

The Stone Ridge Baseball Club held its annual banquet at the Brink Hotel, Stone Ridge, Monday night and was attended by about 25, who enjoyed a delicious chicken dinner. Speeches were made by the managers, Frank Myers and Jack Hess, who thanked the players for the splendid cooperation manifested both on and off the diamond. A quartet consisting of "Kid" Moore, Bob Sicker, "Black" Cragan and Cy Jansen, rendered a few old time songs, which were well applauded.

"Tip" Wood, best-footed centerfielder of the team, also entertained with a couple of solo numbers.

STONE RIDGE WOULD PLAY CRYSTAL GARDENS

The Stone Ridge baseball team is anxious to meet the Crystal Gardens club as indicated by the following message sent to The Freeman:

"Stone Ridge with six straight victories would like to meet the Crystal Gardens club on August 27 and September 2, home and home games. Stone Ridge won its last victory over Highland, 13-2. Cragan allowed three hits. Sunday, August 20 the Riders play home against Glens."

City League Series May Go Five Games

The City League series, which starts at the Athletic Field, Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock may go to five games as both Jimmy Morgan, manager of the Republics, champions of the first half, and Percy Elmer, manager of Schuyler, winners in the second half, favor the longer tourney. The championship used to be decided in three games. On Thursday evening at the city judge's room, city hall, at 7:30 o'clock the question will be decided as a meeting has been called for the managers and owners of the loop.

India's Monsoon Depended Upon to Make the Crop

The monsoon, which sweeps across the Indian ocean during the summer from the end of May to September is one of the most important factors in Indian prosperity. Nearly the whole amount of rice which falls in India during the rainy season comes in the monsoon, says the Manchester Herald, and if the downpour fails Indian peasants and farmers' crops are ruined. Anxious they wait every year for the heavy clouds to burst when the wind has rolled them across the Arabian sea to India.

In the early days of navigation the Arabs and the eastern voyagers who first sailed the Indian ocean, depended on the monsoon, and the early European trading companies regulated their voyages to the east according to the monsoons.

Today sailors vary their course during the monsoon, which is really a reversal of the normal winds over the ocean. In the Arabian sea the normal wind is the northeast trade wind, but actually it blows only in the cool season. When the sun is overhead in the north of India a depression develops in the northwest. As a result, the southeast trade wind blows over the Equator and then circles round the center of depression or low pressure, reaching India as a southwest wind.

Copernicus Theory That Earth Moves Around Sun

A demonstration of the truth of the theory of Copernicus, that the earth moves around the sun, instead of the sun moving around the earth, is not made easily without a knowledge of various physical and astronomical phenomena.

There is an annual change in the apparent position of the stars, known as their annual parallax. Either the stars make this annual circuit and all of them in the same length of time, or the earth makes an annual circuit in space which causes the apparent annual movement of the stars. The fact that they are all made in the same length of time makes it more probable that they are due to the motion of the earth than that they are due to the individual motions of the stars themselves.

The work of Kepler in connection with the laws of planetary motion, of Galileo, with the use of the telescope, and of Newton in connection with the laws of gravitation, strengthened the Copernican theory which in the course of centuries has gained general acceptance.—Detroit News.

When the Clock Gets Wet

From the Naval Observatory at Washington comes advice that may save a good timepiece. When a clock or watch has been immersed in water, it should be filled with glycerin and taken to the jeweler's at once. This advice was issued as an order to the navy. Clocks at sea are likely to be soaked at any time, with their consequent ruination sure unless cared for properly. The glycerin oil was issued to economize on the costly chronometers necessary for navigation. Glycerin is the thing because it has an affinity for water and will mix with it. There are very few oily substances which will do this. That is why a small amount of glycerin added to water makes an excellent and cheap lotion for applying to the face, hands or other parts of the body which tend to chap and roughen.

Jazz Time and Syncopation

There is no such thing as jazz time. Jazz is merely noisy rhythm. Rhythmic, is, however, popular music with syncopated rhythm. Syncopation means that a regular accent has been delayed or hastened beyond its usual beat. Generally, in common time, the accent comes on the first and third beats of each measure. When the second note of a measure is held over and not struck on the third beat, it is said to be syncopated. The same applies when the fourth beat is held over the first of the following bar and not struck. It was not invented by jazz writers but was in common use long before. Beethoven made effective use of it. A well known example is in the "Allegretto" of the popular "Moonlight" Sonata.—Montreal Herald.

WITCHCRAFT STORY IN DEATH WARRANT

Document Carries Signature of Cotton Mather.

Denton.—Witchcraft was a dangerous occupation around Salem, Mass., in 1692, and Frank C. Mather of Denton has the documentary proof.

An apparently genuine death warrant, issued June 10, 1692, for one Rebecca Nurse, a Salem witch, is owned by Mather.

The warrant has been authenticated by the Massachusetts Historical society and by William F. Warren, curator of the Boston museum. It possesses signatures of Cotton Mather, the Indian King Philip, and other notables of the time.

The "X" signature of King Philip makes the document especially valuable, as there are said to be only seven of these original "X" marks in existence.

Rebecca Nurse was considered somewhat of a neighborhood menace in and about Salem.

According to the charges set forth in the warrant, she caused the death of some forty fowl and several swine.

Rebecca was not satisfied with picking on the fowl and swine, but carried her work further by cutting with an ax "the Wench Pituba," a member of King Philip's tribe. Several mysterious fires in haystacks were laid at her door.

Such activity on the part of a woman was enough to bring her to trial.

A court of Massachusetts notables gave Rebecca a trial and found her guilty of witchery. She was ordered hanged by the neck "on a high hill at high noon so that all might see."

Mather received the historical document from E. W. Bailey, a Ponca City (Okla.) tourist, who had purchased it from C. A. Powell of Grenada, Miss. The value of the warrant is unknown.

Ecuador Indian LegendTells Story of Genesis

Berkeley, Calif.—The story of Genesis as told in legend by the head-hunting Indians of Ecuador was told here recently by Dr. Matthew W. Stirling, explorer and chief of the bureau of American ethnology of the Smithsonian institution, who just returned from Peru.

In the beginning there were in the world only Kumpano, the creator; Chingaso, his wife, and their son, Esta, the sun.

Out of mud, Kumpano created Nantu, the moon, as a wife for Esta, but she was shy and kept away from him. The nightbird, Anhu, fell in love with Nantu, but she repulsed him also, and one night disappeared far into the sky.

Anhu, however, went in pursuit and tried to climb a trailing vine to the moon. But Nantu cut the vine, which fell and became entangled among the trees, where it still remains.

The eclipse of the moon occurs when Esta strikes Nantu. When Nantu is the aggressor, that is the moon eclipsing the sun. And when Nantu weeps, there is rain.

These two persons were the parents of the head-hunters' tribe, according to their legends.

Man Claims Record of45 Years of Insomnia

Port Elizabeth, South Africa.—The record for insomnia is claimed by William Colson, seventy-three-year-old curio dealer, who on reading of the recent death of a woman who said she had not slept for 22 years stated he had had 45 years of complete sleeplessness.

"I have not slept a wink all this time, and I never feel the need," Mr. Colson declared. "I go to bed every night, though, because I formed the habit before I lost the power to sleep at the age of twenty-eight—and because there is nothing else to do at night."

Bangor, Maine.—This city's jewelers have been obliged to take out licenses as "junk dealers" because they have begun to advertise, "Wanted—Old Gold."

Child in Coffin"Comes to Life"

Warren.—A five-year-old child "came to life" in her coffin on the way to her funeral recently.

As the cortege was passing the grave the mourners heard cries coming from the coffin. It was opened and the child handed back alive into the arms of the weeping mother and taken home.

Doctors state the child was in a state of lethargy almost unknown among children.

The Deluge

From the time of the murder of Abel to the time of Noah (Noe), the Bible devotes considerable space to a genealogical record of the descendants of Adam. One of these descendants, Jubal, was the first musician; and another, Tubalcaim, was the first worker in brass and iron. Adam lived 980 years and Methuselah reached the record age of 969 years. But old as these patriarchs were, they failed to learn wisdom with their years, and "the wickedness of man was great on the earth." God determined to wipe out the entire race with a deluge of rain.—Exchange.

The Bargello Stairway

The Bargello stairway is an especially picturesque one attached to the outer wall of a building in Florence which is now an art gallery. It has served as a prison and also as the headquarters of the Podesta. The stairway opens into a court. It is so picturesque that photographs of the stairway and of the decorated wall to which it is attached are popular as wall decorations.

Judge Asks Estate Be Tax Exempt

Old Colonel Payne Estate Now Mission for Needy Negroes—Judge Clearwater Asks It to Be Exempt From Taxes.

At the review of the assessors of the town of Enos on Tuesday, Judge Clearwater as counsel for the New York Protestant Episcopal City Mission of which Bishop Manning is the head, requested the assessors to strike from the assessment roll the $273,000.00 assessment on the property conveyed to the Mission by Lieutenant Harry Payne Bingham upon the ground that the entire estate except for a few acres occupied by Mr. Buchanan as a farm for the raising of thoroughbred chickens was exempt by law from taxation.

This is the large and celebrated estate in his life-time owned by the late Colonel Oliver H. Payne, the Standard Oil magnate, who built upon it a stately palace and a group of beautiful stone buildings consisting of barns, stables, granaries, chicken houses and other buildings that led to its being called the English village, which greatly it resembled.

Judge Clearwater, who was the local counsel of Colonel Payne said his visit recalled to his memory many pleasant associations with his clients who lived in the neighborhood. Among them not only were Colonel Payne, but John U. Brookman and John Burroughs. Particularly did it remind him of the brilliant reception, dinner and ball given by Colonel Payne. The Judge stated to the assessors that the Mission now conducted on the premises was at the moment taking care of 200 needy boys, providing them with food, clothing and medical attendance. It had created a bathing beach, a gymnasium and a baseball field as aids to the making of these boys into good healthy and useful citizens instead of neglecting them to develop into homeless waifs, hoodlums and street rascals.

He added that the Mission was one of the most beneficent of the charities of that great branch of the Christian faith, the Episcopal Church, and was a most munificent gift by Lieutenant Bingham in memory of his uncle, Colonel Payne. The judge also stated that he had suggested to the heads of the Mission that in so far as it was possible, they purchase their supplies from local merchants, and that they had agreed to do this. He said that he had been told that some feeling had been aroused by the non-assessment in the town of important and expensive buildings devoted to religious and charitable purposes. It had been suggested to him that the assessors and the other town officials apply to the legislature for a modification of the tax laws of the state so as to make these properties subject to assessment and taxation. He trusted that this would not be done, as he strongly was of the opinion that the religious instruction, protection and education furnished to these waifs was a more valuable contribution to the public welfare than the money derived from the taxation of the properties would afford.

The judge added, "We are passing through one of those periods of economic depression which to some of us suggest desperate but unwise remedies. Such periods, said he, have recurred from time to time, and will recur long after all of us are dead. What we are passing through now does not compare with what happened in the reign of Edward the Confessor over eight hundred years ago, nor is it as bad as what happened in my own recollection in 1856 and 1873. We shall survive it but the buoyancy of the American spirit is so fine and so high we shall not profit by any economic lesson it teaches, but soon shall forget all our troubles."

The assessors gave to the judge's remarks their most serious attention and consideration.

BRITISH ROYALTY KEEPS BIG STAFF

Household Aids Have Many and Varied Duties.

London.—Members of the royal family often are overworked. They have so much to do that many of their tasks are lightened by men and women who form the members of their households.

Whenever a new government is formed the treasurer, controller, vice chamberlain, and the lords in waiting may be changed, but the most important positions are permanent and are filled by men chosen personally by his majesty. The king not only selects officers for his own household but for those of his sons as well.

Attendants to royalty in nearly every case are distinguished members of the army, navy, or air force. They must have natural ability as courtiers and be versed in all arts of diplomacy. Together with these qualifications they must be known personally to the royal family and have an ancestry mellowed by continued service and loyalty to the crown.

Of the late Lord Stamfordham, who spent half of his life as personal friend and secretary to King George, it was said that he knew more about the inner secrets of contemporary history than any man living.

In the later years of his life Lord Stamfordham began to feel that his age prevented him from rendering sufficient service to his majesty and asked again and again to resign. The king would not hear of it, and, according to a story related by the Hon. Mrs. Francis Lascelles, the king placed both hands affectionately on his shoulders and said, "Arthur, if you leave me now, after all these years, I shall abdicate."

Lord Stamfordham was later succeeded by Col. Sir Clive Wigram. Sir Godfrey Thomas, private secretary to the prince of Wales, has the hardest job in the world. He has charge of everything to do with the prince. Sir Godfrey has an assistant in Hugh Lloyd Thomas, C. V. O., who "understands" him.

Queen Mary has a large household, some of whom are permanent officers and ladies, others are honorary.

Homicides increased and suicides decreased in Kentucky in 1932.
